1. MEASURE FINGER SIZE

If measuring for a ring at home, measure your/your beloved's finger size at the end of the day when warm (in the morning, fingers are cold and actually smaller!). Measure it 3 or 4 times, to be sure. A lot of people use paper or string to take a measurement – don't! - they can stretch, giving you an incorrect finger size. Thin wire is best.

Engagement and wedding rings are traditionally worn on the ring finger on the left hand. The 'ring' should fit comfortably; tight enough not to slide off by itself, but loose enough that it will come off with a little tug.

2. DETERMINE RING SIZE ON THIS PAGE

NB! Before printing:

- Press CTRL+P
- Set the 'Page Scaling' to 'None' on your print dialogue box.
- Measure the bar on the left onscreen. It must be exactly 3cm long.

Lay the page flat and place the 'ring' over the circles below, matching it to the circle nearest in size. This gives you the inside diameter of the ring, and a corresponding official ring size. If the ring seems to fall between two sizes of circle, then go for the larger size.

Guys, women's rings typically range from sizes 3 to 9, with the average being 6.

Ladies, your gent could be between 8 and 14, averaging 9. Fortunately, most rings can be resized (but not titanium).
